EASTERN NEWS.

[BY TELEGRAPH TO THE OREGONIAN.]

Financial Affairs at the East.

CHICAGO, Oct 13.—It is announced that the Union National Bank of this city, which suspended during the recent panic and went into voluntary liquidation, has at the solicitation of other banks here and by the permission of the Treasury Department concluded to reopen to-morrow and continue business. The capital of the bank was large and unimpaired and it was regarded desirable by business men to keep it in the city.

Suit Against Daniel Drew.

NEW YORK, Oct 13.—A suit is begun against Kenyon, Cox & Co. to restrain Daniel Drew, a special partner in the firm, from disposing of his property, which, it is alleged, he is doing in order to escape his connection with the Canada Southern railroad bonds, which were said to cause the failure of Kenyon, Cox & Co.

Discussion on Liberal Episcopalianism.

NEW YORK, Oct 13.—The action of the Dean of Canterbury in taking part in the celebration of the Lord's supper in the Madison Square Presbyterian church Sunday, October 5th caused, as was expected, much discussion among members of Anglican and Protestant Episcopal churches, and letters have been written to the Dean and Bishop Potter, of the diocese, by Right Rev. Dr Tozer, late missionary and Bishop to Central Africa. A tardy publication is this morning given to these letters, the existence and import of which has been known for some days. In a letter to Bishop Potter, Dr Tozer says: "It is by no means improbable that restless and unstable persons in England will seize upon this act of what I must presume to be open hostilities to the discipline of the church as an excuse and apology for attending from time to time the attractive services of the Church of Rome, but the result of this experiment here in America may be even more disastrous, for so far as Dr Smith's influence extends, it will suggest the idea of a promise held out by the Episcopal Church in this land of becoming a haven of rest by men who are tossed to and fro by the multiplicity of contending creeds."

A committee to wait on Mayor Havemeyer to see what could be done about modifying the contract system and give 50,000 persons, who were last year depending upon the Commissioners of Charities for means of earning their own bread, reported that the Mayor would do nothing, that he said he did not care if 1,000,000 of people were without a chance of earning a livelihood this winter.

Drowned at Sea.

NEW YORK, Oct 13.—The steamship George Clyde, at Key West, Oct. 8th, from Galveston for New York, reports that during the severe hurricane of the 6th, Captain Gale, second officer, the Chief Engineer and one seaman were washed overboard and drowned.

Stokes' Trial.

NEW YORK, Oct 13.—Up to noon no more jurors had been obtained in the Stokes case.

The failure of P. H. Stevens is announced in the Stock Exchange.

Our Regular Murder.

CHICAGO, Oct. 13.—Patrick Lawless was stabbed and killed last night in the southern part of the city by Jas. Walsh, who broke into the house and attacked the owner.

Yellow Fever.

MEMPHIS, Oct. 12.—The streets to-day are almost deserted. No crowds of citizens going to or from church, no pleasure parties, nothing but hearses and attendants hurrying to the cemetery and quickly returning to receive other victims of the terrible scourge. The ceremony of burial has long since been shorn of its solemn formality. To meet the demands for the removal of the dead, undertakers are required to move with celerity more becoming [illegible] transports. Occasionally a vehicle containing the Visiting Committee of some relief association, passes at a rapid pace, but aside from these, the city presents a most gloomy appearance. A perceptible change in the temperature about 3 o'clock this afternoon, gave promise of frost, in the event of which, a check to the spread of the disease may be expected, but a fearful increase of mortality will surely follow. A slight abatement of the disease is manifest to-day, as but few new cases are reported. There were but 44 deaths from all diseases.

MEMPHIS, Oct 13.—A light frost this morning inspires new hopes. There were very few new cases reported up to noon. An important feature in the rage of the epidemic is noticeable and that is, that it soon runs its course. Many persons who were attacked a week ago are out on the street, while those attacked earlier are still confined to their rooms. The mortuary report from noon yesterday till noon to-day was 42 deaths, of which 30 were from yellow fever. The trains leaving the city continue crowded.

SHREVEPORT, Oct 12.—Seven deaths occurred here from yellow fever to-day.

Relief for Shreveport.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 13.—The Common Council has appropriated $15,000 for the relief of Shreveport.

WASHINGTON CITY.

Postal Changes.

WASHINGTON, Oct 12.—Postmasters appointed: At Clackamas, Oregon, H E Chamberlain; at Silverton, Marion county, James M Brown; at Summit, Benton county, Ezra Dixon.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.—Ex-President Johnson arrived here to-day.

The German Minister has received a dispatch from Berlin, saying Madame Bismarck is neither dead, as stated in a published dispatch, nor even sick.

MEXICO.

The Mexican Government and the Jesuits.

CITY OF MEXICO VIA HAVANA, Oct. 2.—Two priests of the church of St Lorette have excommunicated all who recognize the Constitution and reforms instituted by the Government. The Jesuits have been ordered to leave the country at their first opportunity.

The President issued a decree on the day following the publication of the reforms and additions to the Constitution proclaimed on the 25th ult., commanding all functionaries and Government employes to affirm without reservation the reforms, and to guard and cause to be guarded all additions, under penalty of a forfeiture of their positions in Congress, and decreed the following: Church and State shall be separate. Congress cannot make laws establishing or prohibiting any religion. Matrimony is to be a civil contract. Religious institutions cannot possess property. A simple promise to speak the truth, complying with obligations contracted, with penalties in case of violation, is substituted for the religious oath. Nobody is obliged to give his or her services without just compensation. No contract is to be permitted, which aims at a sacrifice of the liberty of man in matters of work, education and religious vows. Laws of this country do not recognize monastic orders nor permit their establishment by any denomination or under any pretense, and no contract will be allowed to be made among persons consenting to their own proscription or banishment.

BY ATLANTIC CABLE.

PARIS, Oct 13.—Count DeChambord was at Salzburg to-day. He visited the Grand Duke of Tuscany. He received a deputation from France. What reply he gave to the deputation is not known, but he will probably return to this city by the middle of the week.

Naval Combat in the Harbor of Cartagena.

LONDON, Oct 13, 6 A. M.—A Times special from Cartagena says: On the appearance of Admiral Lobo off port with the Government fleet, the insurgent Junta held a consultation and resolved to fight although their vessels were hopelessly outnumbered. The minority wished to surrender, but the garrison, especially deserters from the Spanish army, determined to fight. The insurgents took the whole day on Friday to coal and provision their vessels, four of which sailed out of the harbor amid the cheers of the insurgents.

An engagement between the insurgent and the Government fleets took place off the harbor at noon on Saturday. Admiral Lobo had the Vittoria, Numancia, Villa De Madrid, Carmen and two paddle wheel steamers. After two hours hard fighting the insurgent vessels were driven back into the harbor of Cartagena. They showed great spirit but were badly handled. The Numancia at first to bear a brunt, done the others firing at too long range. The Vittoria at the close endeavored to intercept the retreat of the rebel men-of-war. Broadsides were exchanged at close quarters and the rebel fleet was much damaged.

From Madrid.

MADRID, Oct 13.—There is a rumor that Tuon has been captured, but the Government has received no such intelligence. There is great rejoicing over the victory.

From London.

LONDON, Oct 13.—The amount of bullion withdrawn from the Bank of England to-day, was 80,000—all for America.

Over half a million dollars specie was shipped for New York on Saturday.

The man who arrived here a few days ago, and claimed to be Arthur Orton, has disappeared.

LONDON, Oct 13.—A Berlin dispatch announces failures there.

CALIFORNIA.

From San Francisco.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 13.—Some unknown miscreant entered Stewart's stable on Seventh street, Saturday night, and poisoned thirty-three horses, some belonging to customers. Nine animals are already dead, and it is believed there will be more. A chemist is making an analysis to find out what kind of poison was used.

J N Risdon has contracted for removing Rincon rock in the harbor off Mission Bay, and has commenced the work of blasting the rock down.

April 13th, in lat. 28° south, the ship Elizabeth Kimball from Port Gamble for Iquique sprung a leak, was run ashore on Easter Island and proved a total loss. The captain, his wife and crew took passage on a small schooner built on the island and sailed for Tahiti, where they took passage for this port on the ship Marina.

The ship William and Thomas, from Port Blakely for Valparaiso, got water logged and made Easter Island March 18th. Vessel and cargo total loss.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 13.—H C Bennett, editor of the Independent Defender, was in the police court to-day, charged with publishing a libel against his old partner R F Fitzgerald. By consent of the parties the case was continued till Saturday next.

The State Grange of California will meet at San Jose to-day.

A new case of smallpox is reported in the Chinese quarter. The patient was removed to the pest house.

Overland passenger—A Nöllner, Oregon City.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 13.—The sum of $3,000 has been sent through Wells, Fargo & Co's office, for the relief of the people of Memphis.

The Grand Lodge of F. and A. M. will convene here to-morrow.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 13.—John Wright, second mate of the ship St. Charles, was brought up for trial, for cruelty to seamen, this afternoon. Witnesses testified that his conduct toward men was generally rough and brutal. The case is not concluded.

M Druet, a French aeronaut, who superintended the balloon service in Paris during the war, is here, and proposes to go up and find the eastern current if it exists. He contemplates a trip to the Atlantic States that way in a monster balloon to be furnished by parties in Philadelphia.

A Chinaman died of smallpox in their temple on Broadway to-day. Several other cases among the same people are reported.

It is proposed to reduce the capital stock in Emma Mine to $800,000.

Mazeppa Mining Company declares a dividend of twenty cents a share; also Ke[illegible] Consolidated a dividend of twenty-five cents a share.

Mary Norcross, a woman who attempted suicide last week, has been sent to the insane asylum.

SAN FRANCISCO, Oct 13.—Hereafter there will be steamers dispatched for Mexico every 20 days. The rates of freight have been reduced, and trade will doubtless be greatly increased. The next steamer sails on the 20th inst.

It is stated that the horses in Stewart's stable were poisoned with strychnine. Two animals died to-day.

Carlotta Leclerq closed last yesterday after a very successful engagement at California Theater. May Howard's engagement commenced to-night.

The police officers captured half a dozen street Arabs to-night for theft and burglary. One of them, only about seven years old, was armed with a formidable pair of brass knuckles and was disposed to resist arrest with them, but finally surrendered. The little rascals are informing the officers where they have concealed large quantities of stolen property supposed to have been taken by adult thieves.

The People's Protective Alliance have had a stormy session to-night, but the doors are closed again to reporters.

Herman Allers drew a shooter on a man on Kearny street to-night, proposing to blow the top of his head off, but the crowd held him till an officer came and took him into custody.

The Fireman's Fund Insurance Company declared a dividend of [illegible] per cent for the quarter ending to-day.

Interior California.

OAKLAND, Oct 13.—This evening about 8 o'clock, while officer Thomas was trying to arrest a man named Thomas [illegible] in East Oakland, he was set upon by a gang of roughs led by Thomas McCarthy, who tried to rescue the prisoner. The officer, in self defense, first fired his revolver in order to frighten them. Seeing that had no effect, he fired at the ring-leader, McCarthy, the shot taking effect in the thigh and ranging upward into the abdomen. The crowd immediately dispersed. At two o'clock this morning McCarthy died. Officer Thomas was arrested and held to await the result of a Coroner's inquest.

In the pacing race, which was postponed from Saturday night until to-day, the first heat was won by Defiance in 2:[illegible], second heat and race was won by Jim Brown in 2:17.

SAN JOSE, Oct 13.—Sheriff Adams received last evening an order to arrest a man supposed to be Harris, of the ship [illegible], this time for larceny, the charge being made by Cannon and others of San Francisco.

The man whose name is C. S. Crocker was arrested and held on a warrant having been sent by telegraph. Officer Keys and [illegible] Cannon arrested [illegible] evidently [illegible] man this evening. [illegible] He will be taken to San Francisco [illegible] morning.

SAN BERNARDINO, Oct 13.—To-day, while Mrs. Morse, wife of Col. Morse, was getting [illegible] her carriage she slipped and broke her leg, [illegible] above the ankle. Dr. [illegible] in attendance had it set immediately and she is doing well.

VALLEJO, Oct 13.—Minute guns were fired and the [illegible] on Mare Island placed at half mast all day in respect to the memory of the late Admiral Winslow.

ARIZONA.

SAN DIEGO, Oct 13.—A gentleman who arrived from Camp McDowell says the rumor concerning 1,000 Indians leaving the reservation is true. He refers to the Tucson Citizen, the last issue of which says:

Lieut. Schuyler, commanding at Verde, tried to arrest Del-che, a notoriously bad chief, who resisted and left the reservation with 1,000 of his followers. The Lieutenant having but few soldiers was powerless to stop them. Gen. Crook has gone in person to that camp.

NEVADA.

ELKO, Oct 13.—A brutal cutting and shooting affray occurred on the Lower toll bridge last night, in which Thomas Williams, an Englishman, was the victim. Yesterday D. N. Harding, the toll collector, visited the house where Williams was stopping for the purpose of having a row. Very rough language was used by both parties. Williams soon after came to Elko. On returning, he found the toll gate on the bridge closed. He was in the act of scaling the gate when Harding, who was waiting for him, dealt him a blow on the head with an ax, cutting through the skull into the brain. Williams fell back insensible, but soon recovered and attempted to make his escape, when Harding pulled a revolver and shot Williams through the left arm, near the shoulder. Williams fell the second time, but soon succeeded in gaining his feet and made his way to a house about a quarter of a mile distant, with a portion of his brain protruding from the wound, and bleeding profusely. Harding was arrested and lodged in jail.

BY STATE TELEGRAPH.

JACKSONVILLE, Oct 13.—Major Jackson, of the First Cavalry, passed through here to-day en route East on a leave of absence. He reports that the Modoc captives left Fort Klamath yesterday morning for their new home in Wyoming Territory. They will be transported with teams under an escort of two companies to Redding and thence by railroad. Everything was quiet at Fort Klamath.

The weather here is cold and cloudy.

OREGON.

The Union County Fair is running this week.

The farmers in this valley started about five hundred plows on Monday, election day as it was.

T. H. Hover, of Conner Creek, Baker county, has purchased the fixtures of a stamp mill of the Virtue Gold Mining Company and will soon have it in operation in his mine at Conner Creek.

The Baker City Herald says: F. L. Carter, Esq., of Portland, has been in the city for some time past. Mr Carter will soon remove his family to this place with the intention of permanently residing here.

A. J. Worley, whose farm is about five miles west of Baker City, has threshed over 2,000 bushels of grain from this year's crop. Besides being a good grain farm this is one of the best places along the foothills for vegetables.

The first number of the Baker City Herald has reached us. It is gotten up in first class style, typographically, and exhibits much ability in its editorial department. It is also well filled with news. The Herald has our wishes for its pecuniary success.

The Baker City Herald says: Arnst Lening, living on Willow Creek, had 14 acres of oats last year which yielded 1,408 bushels. He had 50 acres of grain—wheat, barley and oats—and when the crop was threshed he realized over 4,000 bushels. We give this item at this late date more for the information of Eastern friends than as a local item. We are answering numerous inquiries from abroad in regard to the productiveness of Oregon soil and know no better way of answering them than by giving such facts as the above. From 40 to 50 bushels per acre is the average crop in Powder River Valley.

THE TERRITORIES.

On her last trip up the Sound, the Alida carried six sacks of the best Tacoma clams with which to gratify the appetites of hungry Steilacoom and Olympia epicures. There are no better clams anywhere than those of Tacoma bay.

The ladies of the Presbyterian Church at Olympia will give a sociable and festival on Thursday evening, the 16th inst. The exercises will consist of vocal and instrumental music, sale of fancy work, etc. A general pleasant time is expected.

The Boise Statesman says: "Mr. Ycarvan, who owns a ranch about twelve miles below town, says he has killed this season on his property 2,000 rabbits, and if what are left would bring ten cents a hundred he could supply at least five hundred dollars worth before winter sets in." The supposition is, that all the jackass rabbits on the coast have been holding conventions in this valley the present season, and it is to be hoped that they have concluded to hold their next meeting somewhere else, as many thousand dollars' worth of grain has been destroyed by the [illegible] brutes.

BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The corner stone of the Victoria waterworks was laid on the 6th inst. with Masonic ceremonies.

The Canadian Pacific Railway Company looked to Jay Cooke & Co. for $1,000,000. They will look in vain.

There are in Victoria 74 saloons and only 7 churches. There used to be 8, but one was converted into a private residence. One of the 7 churches is closed.

The agricultural exhibition held at New Westminster recently would appear to have fully met the expectations of its promoters. In fruit, vegetables, dairy produce and cereals the display was most creditable. Although [illegible] compared down in [illegible] the attendance was good.

THE NORTHERN PACIFIC.

MR. FAHNESTOCK'S COMMENTS ON THE REPORT OF THE GERMAN BANKERS ON THE ROAD.

Statements having been recently published to the effect that the financial embarrassments of the Northern Pacific Railroad originated in an adverse report of a commission of German bankers who personally inspected the line and the resources of the Northern Pacific, to determine whether to subscribe to its bonds, a reporter of the Tribune called recently on H. C. Fahnestock, executive head of the New York house of Jay Cooke & Co., at his residence on Madison avenue, to obtain from him the facts connected with the visit of the commission and its report. Mr. Fahnestock said:

Why, that matter was dead and buried years ago. What is the use of exhuming it at this juncture?

It is represented to have been the real beginning of the Northern Pacific troubles, and therefore altogether interesting and important at this time.

I'll tell you the whole history of the affair and then you'll see what it amounts to. Three or four years ago—I can't be precise as to dates—we wished to introduce our Northern Pacific loan into Vienna, where no American railroad bonds had been placed, and had nearly completed negotiations with the Union Bank of that city to take a certain amount—one million or so I believe. Everything was proceeding favorably, when some of the officers of the bank learned through some source that the Northern Pacific was to run through an arctic region, that the climate would be an insuperable obstacle to the settlement of its lands and the consequent redemption of its bonds. Our representative in the business then suggested that instead of trusting vague reports and second hand information the Union Bank should send over at the expense of the Northern Pacific Company an agent or commission or to make a personal inspection of the enterprise and find out all about its climate and prospects, upon whose report they could act intelligently. The idea was favorably received, and a party of five was made up to visit the line and inspect the condition of the road. A Mr Foltz, representing the Union Bank of Vienna; Herr Haas, of Berlin, a Government director of the Prussian railways, and a newspaper correspondent (Dentex) from Frankfort, were the only men of the party whose names at this moment I remember. They landed in this country in due time, and the first controversy which arose was between Foltz and Haas, and so strenuous was the dispute that neither spoke to the other during the entire trip. The company journeyed together as far as the Red River, where Haas left the others and went on his own account to the Pacific Coast, stopping at San Francisco, and never visiting the western terminus and the Puget Sound possessions of the Northern Pacific. Foltz and the rest of the party went, however, to Portland and other points on the western section of our line, and spent some time on the Pacific Coast. They also procured very full data, while in Minnesota and further west, upon which to base their report, but all this matter was destroyed by the burning of a baggage car near Cleveland, on the way home, and the party, reduced to the notes and brief memoranda which they happened to have in their pockets, without stopping to repair their losses by fire, returned to Europe, whither Haas has preceded them. Before leaving this country, however, Dentex came to me and offered for a small sum, I think it was $500, to make any kind of a report which I should want. In due time both reports were made—that of Foltz to the Union Bank of Vienna, and that of Haas to the principals whom he represented in Berlin. Foltz's contained a great amount of general and statistical matter, and argued that after the completion of the road three years I believe must elapse before the sales of the bonds would pay the interest on the bonds. To provide for this prospective deficiency the report recommended the creation of a reserve fund of $30,000,000, though without suggesting how this amount should be raised. A few minor and entirely technical changes in the terms of the mortgage was advised, and that was the entire result of Mr Foltz's visit.

Haas made a report in which he concluded that it could not be expedient to invest in the bonds of the Northern Pacific for some reasons which I do not now recall, but at the same time he made a rose-colored report upon the St Paul and Pacific road, which he said was certain to be a splendid success. That road, you will remember, went to smash and was put into the hands of a receiver some time since. Haas at the time he was here was the agent of the house of Lipman, Rosenthal & Co. of Amsterdam, who were heavily interested in St Paul and Pacific, and doubtless regarded their interests safe in his judgment. As a result of the reports the Union Bank of Vienna declined to consummate its subscription, a result which was on the whole, entirely satisfactory to us, as they were determined on having so many conditions, restrictions and prior stipulations that their purchase of bonds would probably have been of no advantage to us. Subsequently both reports were published in Europe, though of that I am not certain. They were sent to me and I have them now somewhere, though I can't say whether in print or manuscripts. I know that two or three times the publishers of a German financial paper down town came to me, intimating that they should publish the reports unless I paid heavily for their suppression. I invariably declined their proposition and advised them to go ahead with their publications, but they never appeared. And that is the sum and substance of these reports of the German bankers of which so much, first and last, has been said. I have no doubt whatever that had I chosen I could have had any kind of a report which I wanted, either from the entire commission or from the members singly, had I been willing to pay enough for it. I have never seen the Northern Pacific Railroad and am free to say that I have not thought so very much of it, but if I am put on the retired list here, as the events of the last two or three days indicate, I intend to see the Northern Pacific for myself and go a-fishing in some of the lakes along its line.—N. Y. Tribune, Sept. 23d.

SALT LAKE AND THE MORMONS TO BE SWALLOWED UP.

A newspaper correspondent who has been [illegible] Salt Lake for the benefit of his intellectual and widely circulated journal—we believe that is the customary expression—propounds the startling theory that the Mormon question, which has caused our government a little vexation, is to be settled after the fashion of dealing with wickedness a few thousand years ago, the difference being that instead of a rain of forty days and nights, there will be an outpouring of water from the lake, which need not last more than a few minutes [illegible]. One [illegible] is known [illegible] that the great Salt Lake [illegible] and that the water in the lake [illegible] twenty feet since the Mormons first entered the valley. IN THE HOUSE.

This morning the bill incorporating Kalama Lodge No 17 F and A. M. was reported on by committee, and made the special order for Wednesday next.

H B No 2 and 3, fixing the salaries of Auditor and Treasurer of Walla Walla county, and No 9, relating to hogs trespassing in certain counties, was read third time and passed.

H B No 11 renders it an offence, indictable for murder in second degree, to place any obstructions on any railroad track, thus endangering human life, read a second time and referred to Committee on Judiciary.

H B No 12, to prevent the spread of contagious diseases among cattle, read a second time and referred to Committee on Agriculture.

The Joint Committee on Printing reported that finding the amount to be paid for the printing of the laws and journals is, by the direction of the Secretary of the Treasury, limited to $4,000, which sum is insufficient to meet the wants of the Legislature, the Committee therefore recommend that special attention be directed to economy in this respect, and with that end in view, the Committee in majority recommend the appointment of E. T. Gunn, who offers to print all the incidental work of the Legislature at the rate of seventy-five cents per thousand. After the reading of the above report, a recess was taken until 2 P. M.

The following bills were presented by the Council for the action of the House: Bill changing name of Laura Lamb to Laura Tripp; bill asking for an appropriation of $3,000 to render navigable the South Fork of Lewis river in Clark county.

A minority report was then presented on the subject of public printing, from which it appeared that Messrs Bagley & Harned agreed to do all the incidental printing of the Legislature at the rate of fifty-five cents, being twenty cents less than any other bid offered, and an animated discussion on the subject thereupon ensued, which was participated in by several members. On the ayes and noes being called the majority report was adopted and submitted to the Council, who after a short time returned it with their approval.

Two hundred and fifty copies of the Treasurer's and Auditor's reports were then ordered to be printed forthwith, and the House adjourned till Monday at 10 A. M.

It is generally complained of in the House that the Government is this year acting very niggardly towards the members of the Legislature, not even allowing them the usual supply of newspapers so necessary to Legislators during the session, and it is to be regretted that the Department has failed in this respect, in meeting the wishes and the wants of the men on whom the eyes of the whole Territory are at present fixed.

If all the reporters for newspapers in this city attended regularly, some of them would certainly have to take their place in the audience owing to the limited space allowed them within the bar, but as it happens the only reporters in constant attendance are those of the DAILY OREGONIAN and Olympia Standard.

In your DAILY of the 9th inst. I perceive the name of N. T. Caton published in the list of members. If this is an error of mine I should like to correct it, as the honorable gentleman's name is Nathan T. Caton, of Walla Walla, present Speaker of the House, and one who is well and favorably known all through Oregon and Washington Territory.

I should have stated before that Mr Clark's joint resolution relating to visiting the Penitentiary, after passing the House, was laid on the table by the Council, they probably having no wish to visit that institution unless compelled to, and so at the expense of the Territory.

When indignant Apollo Hall Democracy withdrew from the Utica Convention after the [illegible] snub it received, it marched straight [illegible] and adopted the following protest:

[illegible] APOLLO HALL DELEGATION, UTICA, [illegible] The Democratic State Convention has rejected and insulted a delegation representing 40,000 honest voters in the city and county of New York. This [illegible] was notoriously secured by deception and fraud in the temporary organization of the convention and the instruments of a packed committee on credentials. The Apollo Hall delegation accepts the position and will calmly and confidently appeal to the ballot in November to establish their fidelity to Democratic principles and to strengthen its local organization and effectually rebuke the arrogance of Tammany Hall. By order of the delegation.

F. G. COURTNEY, Chairman.

The arrival of Prof. C. W. Young among us has completed the corps of teachers in the Olympia Seminary. That institution has now nearly seventy pupils in attendance and its popularity and usefulness are increasing daily.

BARNUM LOOKING HEAVENWARD.

A BALLOON FOR EUROPE IN THE SPRING—A FIRE BALLOON WITH 8,000 GALLONS OF OIL.

From the New York Sun, 25th.

Showman Barnum starts for Europe in the Scotia this morning. He had a talk at the Astor House yesterday afternoon with Prof Wise about balloons.

"I am going to have a transatlantic balloon voyage attempted in the spring," said Mr Barnum to the Professor, "and I want you to tell me exactly what you would require for it, leaving the cost out of the question."

Professor Wise described the kind of balloon he would like, and Mr Barnum took notes. The aeronaut's fondest wishes would be satisfied with a silk balloon eighty feet in diameter. The material must be especially woven of uniform warp and woof, undyed, and weigh one pound to every five square yards. The crown of the balloon must be protected with an additional thickness of waterproof muslin, and 268,000 feet of specially prepared gas provided. With these acquirements met he would promise to start for Europe via the air line in June.

"But I suppose you couldn't come back in the balloon," jocosely asked Mr Barnum.

"Yes," replied Prof Wise, and he was about to explain how a complication of air currents might land him somewhere in South America, but his son checked him.

"You certainly don't mean, father, that you could start from London and come back?" he said.

The Professor, in spite of his son's evident surprise, was inclined to argue that he could do it. The latter thought it could be done only by making a complete circuit of the globe, and Barnum didn't much care how it was done if it was only done. Dr Parasel, an aeronaut, presented a plan for crossing the Atlantic in a hot air balloon. He would require a large balloon lined with paper and arrangements for burning oil to keep the air in it continuously heated. Sixty thousand feet of rarefied air would, he said, possess a lifting power equal to eighteen thousand pounds. He would take along eight thousand gallons of oil, and burn it fast enough to keep the air in the top heated to over two hundred degrees Fahrenheit. He would force in cool air when he wanted to go down quickly, and fire up to ascend. He knew he could stay up thirty days with the proposed supply of oil, and wasn't afraid of the balloon catching fire from the intense heat.

Mr Barnum listened to all the suggestions, took the addresses of aeronauts in London and Paris, examined samples of silk, covered a sheet of [illegible] with estimates and figures, and declared that he intended to spare no trouble or expense in making an experiment on a grand scale.

NOVEL DUCK-HUNTING.

An ingenious Minnesota youth is to be credited with a novelty in the way of duck hunting. He lives at a beautiful spot known as Rice lake, from the wild rice growing on its margin as thick as wheat in a field. Ducks love this rice, and when they have partaken of a sufficient quantity their flesh becomes of a nature to tempt the palate of an anchorite. But the Rice lake ducks, either from experience or an instinct which may be said to be wisdom intensified, do not like human company, and when they see a hunter approaching generally hasten out of gunshot range. Dick, the youth before alluded to, was particularly fond of ducks and looked with contempt upon the futile efforts of his sire to provide the table with this delicacy. He determined to have some ducks for dinner if it took all the morning to accomplish the task. Proceeding to the cornfield he selected a large pumpkin, cut a hole in one end, removed its internal arrangements, carried it down to the shore, divested himself of his clothes, placed the pumpkin over his head, and waded in among the rice. In a short time the fat and tender pioneer of a flock of ducks approached, and imagining the vegetable to be free from guile encouraged the others to follow. They were partaking of the matutinal meal, when astonishment struck them at the sight of the pioneer suddenly diving—not that there is anything in a duck diving—but this one dived feet foremost and neglected to come up. A committee of one was appointed to investigate, and approaching the pumpkin, suddenly made a backward dive, and was gone. This was enough for the others. They fled in dismay, and henceforth numbered as among their deadliest terrors the innocent ingredient of New England pies.

TUESDAY MORNING, OCTOBER 14, 1873.

THE ELECTION.

From all parts of the State we hear that the vote cast on yesterday was unusually light. Our dispatches tell the story of the unequal fight. We presume that in no instance was the full vote of any precinct polled. In this city the total vote in the Congressional election last year was 2,419; Wilson's majority over Burnett was 899. Yesterday, the total number of votes polled was 1,628—a falling off of 791. At the same time we believe that fully 350 of these votes were cast by non-residents and repeaters. It is a notable fact that the best class of our citizens, the merchants, capitalists and artisans, and particularly the religious part of the community, did not go to the polls. The same is true, also, of Salem. In the Congressional election of 1872, Salem contributed the greater part of Wilson's majority of 395 over Burnett. The Capital has always been known as a reliable Republican city, and in several instances its four precincts have furnished enormous Republican majorities. But to-day, Nesmith carries the four precincts by a majority of 18. Of course, the falling off in the country precincts will be proportionally large. Silverton, Sublimity, Lincoln and Butteville will not give their usual majorities. On the contrary, it seems to be the general belief that old Marion, the banner county of the State, will give Nesmith a small majority. We do not believe the Democratic majority in Linn will exceed 290, although dispatches received at a late hour claim 400 for Nesmith. From Polk, Yamhill, Columbia, Clatsop and Tillamook, we have had no word, and we do not care to make any estimate of the probable result in those counties. Our returns from Clackamas, Washington, Benton, Lane and Wasco are insufficient to enable us to form anything like a correct idea of the probabilities. By to-morrow night we shall hear from Coos, Curry, Josephine and Clatsop, and have full returns from most of the counties on the line of the railway. As the figures now stand we see no good reason to change our prediction made several days since:—that Hiram Smith will be beaten by 1,000 majority.

THE RESULT AS FAR AS HEARD FROM.

From the dispatches received up to a late hour last night, and published in another column, we compile the annexed tabulated statement of majorities. It will be observed that this statement is based on the official returns. No estimated majorities are given, although our correspondents in different parts of the valley have furnished such estimates in several instances.

	Smith.	Nesmith.

[illegible]	...	28
Wasco	...	65
	542	656
Nesmith's total majority		114

In Benton, but one town has been heard from—Corvallis, which gives Nesmith 66 majority. In Clackamas, Oregon City and Canemah; in Douglas, Roseburg and Oakland; in Jackson, Ashland, Canyonville and Jacksonville; in Linn, Albany; in Marion, Salem; in Multnomah, the precincts in Portland and the immediate vicinity; in Wasco, the Dalles;—these form the basis of our table.

REPUBLICANS, HOW DO YOU LIKE IT?

Elsewhere we have something to say concerning the outrageous corruption which lies at the bottom of Hiram Smith's majority in this county. We publish the story as it came to us from a man who, by his own confession accepted a "card" (!) in order to detect the men who laid the scheme for "endorsing" Senator Mitchell. These "cards" were not well played. Ah Sin took a hand in the game he did not understand, and just at the critical moment discovered a "cold deck" and laid down a right bower which is calculated to strew the floor of the Grand Jury room with the political corpses of several well-known politicians of this city. We want to ask the honest voters of Oregon, those men in other communities who boast a childlike faith in the honesty and "party fealty" of the Bulletin clique: How do you like the complexion to which the Multnomah fraud, hatched and nursed by that clique, has come at last? Is not every accusation made by the OREGONIAN during the campaign fully sustained by the astounding developments of yesterday? Are these iniquitous and corrupt practices a part of the Republican faith? Are they necessary to the existence of the Republican party? Can they be justified by any scrupulous, conscientious man of any political faith? And lastly, must the Republican party in Oregon sanction the character of the man who stood at the helm of these transactions, or of his accomplices who executed them? For our own part we say with emphasis: the Republican party cannot longer carry this burden of fraud, corruption and bribery. It must unload or die.

"THAT'S THE WAY THE MONEY GOES."

It is the doleful refrain of a score of Federal office-holders in this city who made up a large part of the $7,000 corruption fund which was used yesterday to secure a majority in Multnomah county for Hi and Hipple. For a day or two past it has been a common rumor on the streets that assessments for election purposes had been levied on the little chain-gang of office-holders who infest the Custom House. It is said that our gay Lothario of a Senator contributed $1,500; that Hiram Smith furnished $1,000, and that the balance had to be made up by the sinecures and parasites in the Federal offices in this city. Mr. Holladay, it is alleged, told a well-known gentleman a day or two since that he wouldn't "give a blank-blank cent to aid H. Smith's election"; He had contributed a good many thousands in other elections, and "the blank thieves had stolen three-fourths of the money, appropriating it to their own use." Happy family is that little Custom House chain-gang to which Ben stands sponsor!

THE WAY IT WAS DONE.

In yesterday's OREGONIAN we warned the people of Multnomah county that the Custom-House ring was making extensive preparations to carry this city and county for the Albany nominee by the liberal use of a corruption fund, and the support of a gang of hired ruffians and repeaters. It may not be uninteresting to the people of Oregon to hear just how these plans were carried out, and how the planners were caught in their infamous schemes. Four men were arrested yesterday, all charged with illegal voting. On being interviewed these individuals related their story of bribery and fraud, implicating, as we are informed, one M. F. Mulkey, City Attorney for Portland, and several members of the Custom-House chain-gang. One of our informants tells a very plain, straightforward story. He says that when he was approached by the Senator Mitchell's creature he was told that if he would vote for Hiram Smith he should receive five dollars. He took the ticket furnished him, went to the polls, voted for Nesmith and returned to the scoundrel who attempted to bribe him, with a demand for his fee. He was then furnished with a card and was told that on presenting this to a certain party he would receive five dollars therefor. Instead of going direct to the cashier of Senator Mitchell's bank of corruption, he went straightway to a prominent citizen, and showing the card, certificate of indebtedness, or whatever you may choose to call it, told him of the whole transaction. Afterwards, he called on the cashier and received his five dollars, surrendering the card.

There is another feature in this transaction illustrative of the intense patriotism which characterizes the Custom House ring even in its bribing processes. The card to which we have referred was adorned, with a picture of President Grant placed in the center. On one upper and on one lower corner was printed the mystical word "Gold." When the party supposed to have been bribed demanded his pay, the briber wrote over the portrait of President Grant the figure "5." He was then informed that a certain member of the ring would pay him five dollars for the picture. We are further informed that there are now in custody four men arrested for repeating, all of whom received these pictures and all of whom presented them for redemption. In every instance the price paid for Mr. Grant's portrait corresponded exactly to the stipulated sum for which they had agreed to vote.

This is the way in which Multnomah county was carried for Hiram Smith. That honest gentleman would not like to have his name connected with such infamous frauds, nor do we feel disposed to regard him as an accessory to the crime. The Circuit Court for Multnomah county is now, in session. It becomes the duty of District Attorney Durham to institute a rigid inquiry into the truth of the facts here stated, and bring the guilty parties to justice. Let it be understood by the venal tools of Senator Mitchell, that there is no shield or shelter for such miscreants behind the cloak of party. If City Attorney Mulkey can free himself from the grave charges now current, we shall be glad to have him do so. If he cannot, he may as well understand that the people of Oregon are in no humor to excuse such flagrant crimes as these on the frail plea of "perturbation" and "youthful indiscretions." We have also heard the names of W. K. Witherell and John P. Ward—both Custom House employes—mentioned in connection with this matter of bribery. The grand jury might inquire into their cases to good advantage. Perhaps the good aims of Civil Service Reform can be best accomplished by incarcerating the individuals named, in the penitentiary. Meanwhile we shall expect the Collector of Customs, whose inmost soul must shudder at the bare recital of this infamous scheme, to institute a rigid inquiry into the guilt of such of the Custom House chain-gang as may be implicated in this "card" business.

THE MORAL OF THE ELECTION.

While the result of the election throughout the State yesterday is, as far as heard from, an emphatic endorsement of the principles for which the OREGONIAN has been battling during the past four or five weeks, we have not the necessary time just now in which to review the contest and apply its lessons. In a day or two, when the smoke of action shall have cleared away and the numerous corpses shall have been removed, we can look back upon the eventful struggle through which we have safely passed and consider the fruitful moral evolved therefrom. The Bulletin, meanwhile, may profitably engage in studying the capacity of attenuated bodies for passing through microscopic knot-holes.

RAILROAD VOTE.

According to the Olympia Courier the following is the official vote on the proposition of Thurston county to give a subsidy to the Tenino and Olympia Railroad:

Precinct.	Yes.	No.
Olympia	[illegible]	28
Tumwater	62	16
Black River	[illegible]	[illegible]
Grand Mound	1	38
Chambers Prairie	[illegible]	[illegible]
Coal Bank	[illegible]	35
Yelm	1	18
	502	143
Total number votes cast		645

The shrewd bankers of Hannibal, Mo., when the panic was at its highest and a "run" seemed inevitable, quietly closed their doors and with great presence of mind informed their depositors and customers that their houses were closed, in order that their employes might attend the County Fair, then in session.

A Dubuque (Iowa) dispatch of October 2d, says that at a meeting of the stockholders of the suspended Merchants' National Bank, it was ascertained that the defalcation of R. A. Babbage, Cashier, was $267,000, and that of F. W. N. Sheffield, President of the bank, $62,000. The bank has gone into liquidation.

The New York Times says that at the conclusion of the Stokes trial, the trial of Boss Tweed will begin.

JAY COOKE & CO'S STATEMENT.

PHILADELPHIA, Sept. 26, 1873.

A statement of the assets and liabilities of the firm of Jay Cooke & Co., of Philadelphia, New York and Washington, has been prepared by them, which is to be submitted to their creditors. The following is a summary:

Liabilities	$7,[illegible] 26
Assets—Bills receivable, bank, insurance and other stocks, bonds and real estate	7,867,610 12
Loans to Northern Pacific Railroad Company on $3,7[illegible] of stock of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company	1,[illegible] 00
Loan to the Northern Pacific Railroad Company, on bonds of the Company	1,008,215 00
Second mortgage Railroad bonds, stock, &c.	2,709,376 96
Total	$15,966,212 17

The above exhibit of liabilities is exclusive of $1,701,140 90, loans of the firm which are fully secured by good collaterals. The excess of collaterals upon these loans has been estimated and included in the assets. The firm expects soon to submit a proposition for a settlement with its creditors, which, it believes, will be acceptable to the latter. Although it will, of course, require time in the conversion of its assets, the handsome showing made, leaves no doubt of its ability to pay every dollar of its indebtedness with interest, and still to have a surplus of several million dollars. A gratifying feature in the above exhibit, is the fact that, although some embarrassment of the firm has been occasioned by its large advances to the Northern Pacific and connecting roads, which it was carrying during a period of unprecedented monetary stringency, its resources outside of these advances are amply sufficient to secure all its creditors from ultimate loss.

THE "TWELVE O'CLOCK MAN."

A character well known by sight by many persons who daily passed the Brooklyn City Hall at noon, died last week. He was known as "The Twelve O'clock Man." For seven years he had stood near the City Hall, within sight of the clock, from eleven o'clock until the first stroke of the noon-day bell, when he had slouched away to his home. For more than five years, his daily position was at a part of the railing, against the pickets of which he leaned, and looked mournfully at the clock. If spoken to, he would mumble out an answer, to the effect that he was waiting for somebody. "He'll come by twelve o'clock, he said he would." Says the New York Evening Post: The old man never failed to stand at his chosen post at that hour of the day; he was never properly clad, but in the hardest storm of rain or wind or snow, on the coldest winter day or the hottest summer day, he could always be seen at the city hall at noon. No one knew his story, but many guessed a piteous history of his life. It is now told that he was a monomaniac—(which everybody knew)—that he had saved a sum of money by hard work: that the money was borrowed of him with a promise to pay it, with interest, on a certain day, at noon, in front of the city hall. But the old man never saw the borrower again. He did odd chores in the morning and earned pennies enough to buy food, he lived in an old hut; he was dirty; his craziness did not come from a great and noble grief—from the loss of a loved relative or friend, but from a loss of a sum of money; he was every day gazed at with open-eyed astonishment by the idlers in the streets; he died. Some one has drawn his picture for a Brooklyn club, and a warm-hearted resident of the neighborhood, has tied a piece of crape upon the railings by which he used to stand.

NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE.—The issue of the DAILY OREGONIAN last Thursday is such as to excite the admiration of every printer. It contains twenty columns of closely printed matter, embracing telegraphic and local news, a full account of the execution of the Modocs, reports of the State Fair, editorials, miscellaneous matter, State and Territorial news, market reports, and an extended report of the ceremonies of the laying of the corner-stone of the State House in Salem on Wednesday, including the lengthy address of Hon. S. F. Chadwick on that occasion—and the whole embraces more matter than was ever printed in a single newspaper this side of Sacramento. The publishers of that journal seem determined to maintain its standing as the leading newspaper of the Northwest.—Willamette Farmer.

AMERICAN SHIPBUILDING.—A Wilmington dispatch of October 1st says: The steamship John Hopkins was launched this morning at the yard of the Harlan & Hollingsworth Company, in this city. She is a propeller, 250 feet long, 68 feet depth of hold, 26 feet beam, and about 1,800 tons burthen. Her owners are the Merchants' and Miners' Transportation, and she will run on the route between Baltimore and Boston. Three other ships of the same line have been built here.

HENRY D. COOKE PROVIDING FOR HIMSELF.—A Washington dispatch of Oct. 1st, says: "There have been filed in the office of the Recorder of Deeds, several instruments of writing by ex-Gov. Henry D. Cooke, conveying to Jay Cooke, trustee, his real estate in Georgetown, in three pieces known as the Cooke property. A widow in Georgetown has entered suit against Jay Cooke & Co. on a certificate of deposit for $4,500."

CITY.

SHERMAN AND HOOKER.—The Pittsburg Leader thus [illegible] of these Generals who figured prominently at the reunion of the Army of the Cumberland in that city last month: The fact that they visited our city gives the reunion a local interest. The King of bummers, as Sherman last week popularly dubbed the hero of the 'March to the Sea,' looks out a little older now than when Joe Johnston handed over nearly the whole southern wing of the rebel army to his tender care. Old Tecumseh looks as majestic as ever, and as much like the picture as it is possible to approach a [illegible] presentment. Sherman is one of the most fussy men in the service in the matter of dress. He is at the bottom of the movement for new uniforms for officers in the regular service, and now wears four plumes in his hat to distinguish the General of all the armies from that of the Lieutenant-General, who has three plumes, the Major-Generals two and the Brigadiers one. When an officer calls on Sherman it would be an insult to the commander of the United States army for the visitor not to appear in full military dress. In persona, 'Fighting Joe,' is a good type of the 'fine old English gentleman,' and the sands of time are commencing to show their presence in the iron-grey hair that surrounds that dare-devil countenance. Dare-devil! Yes, for Hooker's whole life has been one of the most remarkably reckless of any military man on record. He never flinched from danger, and it was this trait in his military character accompanied by a disposition to do and to dare, without regard to the consequences that gained him the title of 'Fighting Joe.' A little incident in his early career, which we don't remember to have ever seen in print, will give a good idea of Hooker's disposition. One time in an engagement, with but fifteen men under his command, he ordered them to charge upon a whole battery of the enemy, and when they refused to do so, he marched boldly forth 'single-handed and alone' to capture the opposing enemy, and only desisted when the shower of grape became so thick as to insure certain death by progressing further. Hooker is suffering from a paralytic stroke received some time since, and, with the aid of a cane, navigates with considerable difficulty."

GLANCE ALONG THE WHARVES.—It has been many months since Portland presented such a lively appearance along the docks. There are at present the following vessels here:

The Schooner Margaret Crockard, from San Francisco, is lying at the foot of B street. She is taking on a cargo of wheat for the above port.

The brig Perpetua is lying near the above mentioned vessel, also receiving a cargo of grain for San Francisco. Both these vessels will be ready to sail in a few days.

Below the Perpetua is the Spirit of the Dawn. This vessel came in ballast, and is under charter to carry to Europe a cargo of grain.

Alongside of the above vessel is the Romeo, which also came in ballast from San Francisco, and will carry away a load of grain. She is under charter to Rodgers, Meyer & Co.

The Theresa Behn is lying at anchor in the stream opposite Flander's wharf. This German bark came in ballast from San Francisco, and is under charter to Laidlaw & Gate to carry wheat to England.

The bark Ideal is at the Gas Company's wharf and will begin discharging cargo in a few days.

At the upper end of the Steamship Company's dock is the handsome little schooner Hera. Yesterday afternoon she commenced loading with grain for San Francisco, and will be ready to proceed down the river on Wednesday.

Both the steamers California and Gussie Telfair are lying at the wharf. The former vessel will sail for Sitka and way ports to-day. The time of sailing and destination of the latter vessel has not yet been determined.

ON THE SANDS.—Last Friday evening the schooner H. L. Tiernan, from San Francisco, crossed the bar without a pilot. She succeeded in getting over the bar without difficulty, but when opposite Fort Stevens she ran ashore on what are known as the "Desdemona Sands"—the same place where the Desdemona was wrecked some years ago. Not being able to get off, the tug Varuna was sent out to her assistance. What success has attended the effort, is unknown at present writing. The place where the Tiernan is aground is regarded as a dangerous one.

FELL OUT.—Yesterday Mr. Fred. Dorey, a well known resident of East Portland, fell backward from a buggy, and was very seriously injured. He struck directly on the back of his neck with great violence. The blow nearly dislocated the neck, and paralyzed Mr. Dorey. Since the accident, Mr Dorey has been unable to move, and has been unconscious. Dr. Rafferty examined the injuries and pronounced them of a very serious character.

HAND CRUSHED.—S. Conser, a son of Jacob Conser, had one of his hands badly crushed at Jefferson late on Saturday evening. He was endeavoring to couple two box cars and had his hand caught. No bones were broken, but the flesh was badly mangled between the thumb and forefinger.

INSANE PATIENTS.—Two insane persons were conveyed to the Insane Asylum yesterday afternoon. These patients came from up the valley. The cause of insanity is unknown. These last accessions to the institution make six who have been added to the number of its inmates within the last seven days.

WELLS, FARGO & CO'S EXPRESS.—This Company will continue to forward freights by the evening express, and also to Astoria by the tri-weekly boats. The office of the Company is closed each evening at seven o'clock.

MACHINERY REPAIRED.—The tug Merrimac will not go down the river for several days yet. She is lying at the foot of E street, having some needed repairs made to the shaft of her propeller.

MET AND ADJOURNED.—The Circuit Court met yesterday morning, but adjourned until 4 o'clock in the afternoon. The court met at that hour but adjourned until this morning.

IN THE RIVER.—The ship City of Paris was off the bar at last accounts, and ere this is doubtless in the river. Two other vessels were also reported off the mouth of the Columbia.

FESTIVAL.—The ladies of the First Presbyterian Church of this city will hold a festival in the basement on Wednesday evening. The public are invited to attend.

CASTINGS SHIPPED.—Fifteen tons of castings will be shipped to Salem for the State Capital, to-day. These castings came from the Willamet Iron Works.

WORK COMMENCED.—The masonry work on the two new sewers was commenced yesterday. No damage had been done to either by the recent rains.

WILL SAIL.—The John L. Stephens is announced to sail from this city for San Francisco on Saturday, 18th inst., at 4 o'clock P. M.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

In door sports now.

Last day of the Fair.

Figuring returns in order.

No excitement yesterday.

River full of ocean vessels.

No rain to speak of yesterday.

More base ball within ten days.

Another "patent outside" at hand.

Stark street blockaded—First to Front.

Note changes in time table on the east side railroad.

Peace (piece) policy was observed very much yesterday.

The wheat movement for the next ten days will be immense.

Election returns will be interesting reading for a month to come.

Not many wagons out yesterday to carry the "oldest" voters to the polls.

Mr Evans' assistant in the Signal Service office, to arrive on the steamer.

City Rifles trip the light fantastic with their friends this evening at their armory.

A false alarm of fire last night—a lively dash for the "boys," and no damage done.

Trout, venison, oysters, chickens, game—plenty now at Quinn's, Washington street.

Forty thousand words sent East by telegraph from Jacksonville about the Modoc execution.

FASHION NOTES.

The Sylvia is an evening hat of light blue velvet, trimmed in an original manner with wild roses and pale lemon ostrich tips.

The Sonora polonaise is decidedly one of the most distingue designs of the season, equally appropriate for a dressy street costume or a home toilet.

A unique design for a skirt is the Genevieve demi-train, which has the peculiar cut which imparts the effect so desirable at present, very plain in front and at the sides.

The high standing Medicis fraise is added to neat garments, both for house and street wear, and imparts a stately effect. Especially is it becoming to ladies with slender necks.

In basques for house wear, the designs are strikingly novel and stylish. The Helena, especially adapted to cloth and heavy goods, is double-breasted, and has coat-shaped basques in the back.

The Marena hat is of gray felt, trimmed with dark, olive brown, and bluish colors, the brim turned up very high at one side over a cluster of bluish roses and shaded ostrich tips arranged on the opposite side in a novel manner.

The Lucca is of gray felt, trimmed in two extreme shades of blue, exquisitely blended, the brim rolled high all around; a handsome cut steel buckle fastening an ostrich plume, of the natural color, which is disposed over the crown and falls gracefully at the back.

Various designs in Gabrielle dresses, now again so fashionable, were exhibited. No other style of dress so charmingly displays a fine figure. When elaborately trimmed, a Gabrielle can be made quite elaborate enough for a dressy toilet, while a simple style can be used for ordinary house wear.

The Torriana is a handsome bonnet of black velvet, the crown high, against which the trimming of rich black lace and a fine cut jet coronet is arranged in a particularly distingue manner. At the back a cluster of Malaga grapes and tinted satin leaves, surrounded by lace, complete the trimming.

The Isolena is an especially striking combination of a lovely shade of lavender with dark purple. The bonnet has a rather high crown, with a puffed coronet, a cut steel ornament fastening a shaded tip at the right side, and a bunch of shaded yellow tulips and purple berries placed on the left, near the back.

A charming hat is the Piamonte, a deep, navy blue felt of a new shape, the crown of a medium height, and the brim rolled very high. The trimming is in two extreme shades of blue gros de Suez—very light and very dark, the effect, heightened by a large cut steel ornament at the side, fastening a cluster of blue ostrich tips, beneath which nestles a bunch of blush roses.

The Nilsson is a black chip hat of an entirely new shape, the brim rolled very high on the left and drooping at the right. The brim is lined with very light blue gros de Suez, and the rest of the trimming consists of rouleaux and bows of the silk, a large cut steel ornament on the left sustaining the brim, and a cluster of shaded light green and tea roses at the back. The entire effect—color, style and shape—is perfect.

For street wear are various novel and graceful designs in dolmans. The popularity of this style of garment was established last season and seems not to have diminished. One of the most novel is known as the Christiane, which has the effect of a double breasted jacket in the front, and is belted in to form a basque in the back. The Abbess is simpler in style, forming a talma in front and belted in the back, and the Laurine has deep, square mantilla tabs in front.

VANCOUVER ITEMS

Several of the farmers in this county are erecting fine dwelling houses this autumn—one of the indications of prosperity.

Brant's new building is being fitted up for a meat market. Joe Burke is to run an opposition shop. Vancouverites hope the price of meat will fall a little or that they will get a better article for the same price.

Emil, Lowenstein & Co. recently burned out by the great fire, have removed their stock of Carpets, Curtains, Coverings, etc. to No. 87 FRONT STREET, between Washington and Alder, where they can be found selling off the entire stock AT COST, in order to start soon in new quarters with an Entire New Stock. All persons indebted to them are requested to call at their temporary place of business and settle up.

Every mother should see that her darling boy is well clothed for the winter. Messrs. BECK & WALDMAN make a specialty of selling Youths' clothing and have a complete stock on hand. The prices are fixed to suit those who wish to economize. They have a full line of gentlemen's full suits and everything in furnishing goods. They give satisfaction. [illegible] be sure [illegible] the well known [illegible].

[illegible] the only [illegible] [illegible] which by the people of this country for the last twenty years has fully established its reputation as the best remedy for those diseases known. It is one of the few medicines that have stood the test of time. [illegible] Beware of counterfeits. The genuine has [illegible] private proprietary stamp.

Sore Throat, Cough, Cold and similar troubles, if suffered to progress, result in serious pulmonary affections, oftentimes incurable. Brown's Bronchial Troches reach directly the seat of the disease and give almost instant relief.

EUGENE CITY ITEMS

Our special correspondent, writing from Eugene under date of the 13th, says:

The officers elected by the military company recently organized here have received their commissions from the Governor. There appears to be rather less of interest now than prior to the election, and the muster roll is somewhat thinned owing entirely, of course, to the demands of business engagements.

From Mr. Wm. Smith of this city, I learn that the accident which befel his brother Thomas Smith, near Roseburg recently, was much less serious than at first reported. Mr. Smith himself as well as the little girl, at first thought to have been killed, were only slightly hurt. Mrs. Smith and another lady in the carriage with them, received serious but it is believed not dangerous injuries.

Campbell Chrisman fired the last gun at the courthouse last Saturday night in a two hours' speech to a small audience. Surveyor General Odell replied. It is too late now to prognosticate successfully, but everything indicates that the vote to be polled to-day will be lighter than for years before. The idea prevails quite extensively among the people of both political parties in this county, that they will be loser whichever of the rival candidates may win.

Like almost every other town of any size, Eugene is infested with a class of boys whose parents are so blindly careless of their welfare as to allow them to roam the streets at will at all hours of the day and night. It requires no prophet to see the criminals' dock looming up in the near future of some of them. Quite a stir was created the other night by the arrest of about a half dozen of these young hoodlums for some mischief committed at the depot. They were taken to the lockup, and kept long enough, as was supposed, to give them a thorough fright, when they were released. One of them remarked, as he walked out of the jail that "he didn't care, they had had a —— bully time in there, anyway."

AN ODD FELLOW'S TROUBLES.—Some few nights ago a member of one of the Lodges of the Order of Odd Fellows in Sacramento started to visit a sick brother in the northeastern portion of the city. Passing a vacant lot, he saw grazing there a goat, tethered with a rope, which was fastened near the sidewalk. Frequently in walking that way he had observed the same animal there, and paid little attention to the circumstance. This time, however, he noticed the goat, because the goat had evidently noticed him, and desired his acquaintance. The Odd Fellow should, if the report relative to initiations of the Order is truthful, have known all about the management of goats, but he was probably a little rusty in the "work," and could only stand and stare at the beast in dismay, with hands clasped across his epigastric region. Thus he stood, as if rooted to the sidewalk, for a few seconds, when the goat bounded forward with depressed head, struck him fair in the stomach, and raised him 6° at least. When he recovered his breath he was lying on his back, his opponent standing a few feet away, looking as if he regretted that he had struck so hard. Feeling as if he would like a glass of beer or something to take the indentation out of his stomach, he turned over upon his hands and knees in the act of regaining his feet. The goat had apparently decided that he wouldn't hit a fellow when he was down, but this was too good a thing to miss, and he didn't miss it, but placed his head with all his force just where he thought it "would do the most good." The unfortunate O. F. was shot along like a grasshopper, and when he finally stopped he was beyond the range of his assailant's rope. There was no need of going for beer then, as new indentations had offset the old ones, so with superhuman calmness he hunted for a rock of the right size to throw. Owing to the darkness he couldn't find any, and had to content himself with standing at long range and telling the goat what he thought of him and his kind. When he finally arrived at the sick brother's house and narrated to him his stirring adventures, it did more toward effecting a cure than all the medicine that had been prescribed.—Sacramento Union, Oct. 1st.

Heavy oats are good for horses, none will deny that, but oats can't make a horse's coat look smooth and glossy when he is out of condition. Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders will do this when all else fails.

Troops of Ailments Vanquished.

On account of the promptness with which it checks the fevers generated by unhealthy exhalations, Hostetter's Bitters is considered an indispensable family medicine on the borders of our Southern and Western rivers, and in new settlements where the plough and the ax are for the first time disturbing the solitudes of nature. Its reputation however, is not confined to such localities. Wherever the elements of disease are rife it is the surest safeguard of health, wherever sickness prevails, it is efficacious as a remedy. Among the serious diseases which it is guaranteed to control are indigestion, billiousness, and all the minor ailments connected with derangements of the stomach, the liver, and the bowels—such as heartburn, headache, flatulence, costiveness, nausea, distaste for food, languor and debility, palpitation of the heart, trembling of the hands, noises in the ears, disordered vision, disturbed sleep, and mental inquietude. As these physical and mental disturbances tend to a general failure of all the powers of the system, they should be at once corrected—as they always may be, by a course of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters.

A SORRY LOVER

(Max Adeler.)

Young Manglebury will not probably visit Miss Skittles again. He called upon her a few evenings ago and as she was not at home, he sat down on the porch to wait for her. In a few moments old Skittles' big dog came up and after eyeing Manglebury and growling at him in a manner which made chills run up and down his back, the dog walked up and began to smell Manglebury's legs. While the animal was performing this operation the young man maintained a condition of absolute repose. It is doubtful if he will again be as perfectly still as he was then until his immortal soul is in the land of everlasting rest. When the ceremony was concluded the dog laid down by Manglebury's chair. As soon as Manglebury felt certain the brute was asleep he thought he would go home without seeing Miss Skittles, but when he attempted to rise from his chair the dog leaped and growled so menacingly that Manglebury sat down again. Then he thought perhaps it would be better not to go home at once. It occurred to him, however that it would be as well to call some one to remove the dog in case circumstances should render it desirable for him to depart, but at the very first yell, Skittles' dog jumped to his feet, gave a fiendish bark, and began to take a few more critical smells at Manglebury's legs. And whenever Manglebury shuffled his feet, or moved his arms or uttered the slightest sound, that infamous dog was instantly up and at him. Once when he had to sneeze, he thought, from the boisterous indignation manifested by the dog that his hour at last had come. Manglebury had often before wanted to see Miss Skittles alone, but now he felt as if he would welcome any member of the Skittles family, even the cook, with a feeling approaching enthusiasm. Finally he heard voices in the parlor. It was Miss Skittles and a young man who had come with her and entered the side door. And they sat there at the window, sparking and cooing, and every now and then making some disagreeable remark about Manglebury, until at last the visitor left, and Miss Skittles locked the door, closed the shutters, and went to bed. And the dog never moved until morning, when old Skittles came down to look at the thermometer and found that faithful guardian still watching over the miserable Manglebury, who still sat in the chair in which he began to wait for Miss Skittles. Old Skittles offered to shoot the dog, in order to soothe Manglebury, but that person was beyond reach of such remedies. He was too mad. He cut the Skittles family dead, and he is endeavoring to select a social circle whose members do not keep dogs. He hates a dog worse than a doctor hates a healthy climate.

VALUABLE ACQUISITIONS.—General Charles P. Stone, formerly of the United States Army, but now Minister of War of Egypt, writes to the Smithsonian Institute that he has procured for it a copy of the celebrated "Tam's Stone." The casts are in five pieces, packed solid with cotton and oakum. General Stone also sends as a present to the institution casts of some of the more remarkable sculptures and bass-reliefs of Egypt, with sketches of the relative positions of two sets, which will be set up on a wall in such a manner as to give a fac simile of two doors at Saccarah. These very valuable and interesting illustrations from the ancient monuments of Egypt include specimens from the palace of Hatason, Thebes, tomb of Saccarah, tomb of Ptah Hotep, museum of Abydos, the great pyramids, tomb of Iti, etc., and will arrive in Washington soon.—Washington paper.

COLEMAN'S EUCALYPTUS

Dr. J. S. Coleman's Compound [illegible] of Eucalyptus is a preparation [illegible] ing all the valuable medical qualities of the Eucalyptus, which is cultivated in nearly every California yard [illegible] for its [illegible] become the household remedy for all diseases of the KIDNEYS, B[illegible] and SEMINAL WEAKNESS. It seems to have a direct affinity for the GENITO-URINARY ORGANS and their surroundings, and cures them by its alterative, healing and balsamic properties more [illegible] ally than any other known remedy.

It is an invaluable remedy for all diseases of the mucous and serous membranes, such as BRONCHITIS, HACKING COUGH, NAUSEA DURING PREGNANCY, DYSPEPSIA, LEUCORRHŒA, etc.

This preparation is the result of Dr. Coleman's experiments with the medicinal properties of the tree in the U. S. Marine Hospital in San Francisco, in 1871 and 1872, where he had unusual facilities for testing the various methods of preparing the remedy and its uses. It can be relied upon as certain to give the promised results, and hundreds of testimonials of its efficacy can be seen at his office, 405 Kearney street, San Francisco.

COLEMAN'S DOUBLE EXTRACT OF EUCALYPTUS is a powerful, yet harmless, febrifuge and is a special preparation for the treatment of the malarious fevers of our interior valleys and is warranted to cure any case of FEVER AND AGUE treated with it according to directions, while the baneful results of the usual Quinine and arsenical remedies of those diseases are entirely avoided.

FOR PHYSICIANS, Coleman's Fluid Extract of Eucalyptus in 1 lb bottles.

THE OLD SURPRISE

Now what hath entered my lov'd woods
 And touched their green with sudden change?
What is this hest of Nature [illegible]
 That makes the roadside look so strange?

Who blanched my thistles' blushing face
 And gave the [illegible]
Set golden rod with [illegible] place
 And scattered asters everywhere?

Who splashed with gold the sumach's edge,
 The [illegible] with purple tint
Gave ivy leaves a [illegible]
 And painted all their stems again

Lo the change [illegible] high and wide
 Hath toned the sky to softer blue
Hath crept along the river side
 And trod the valleys through and through

Discolored every hazel copse
 And stricken all the pasture land
Flung [illegible] across the mountain tops
 And bound their feet with yellow [illegible]

Is, then September come so soon
 Full time for [illegible]
While yet it seems but [illegible]
 We're [illegible] the Autumn [illegible]

BEAU HICKMAN

PASSAGES IN THE LIFE OF A DEAD BEAT AND NOTES OF THE AMERICAN GENTLEMAN BEGGAR

Aaron About communicates to the Chicago Tribune a number of interesting reminiscences of Beau Hickman, who recently died a pauper in Washington. The Beau was an undoubted character in his way. His anecdotes of dead statesmen and the peculiarities of some of the living ones were so extremely interesting, and few men could talk better than Beau after dinner, in an easy chair and a good cigar to puff. Then Webster, Clay, Benton, Calhoun, Hayne and scores of others came from their graves in their glory, and Beau would sit for hours and tell stories of the Washington life of these great men. I believe as a rule, he was very truthful and made it a point never to speak ill of the dead.

In their time both Clay and Webster admitted Hickman into their society, and made a sort of companion of him. Then he was not the poor old, decrepid ill-looking man we have seen him of late years, but a tall straight well-dressed handsome dashing fellow, with money in his pocket and a bank account to draw upon. He had $40,000 left him, but lost it betting at horse races. So polite was he and courteous in his manners, that for long a time after he lost his money, the turf men received him and permitted him to bet without putting up.

When he "lost," he promised to pay and when he "won," he collected the stake with as little delay as possible. He was of an old Virginia family, well raised, and a gentleman both in education and in manners. His relatives cut him as a dead beat on their bounty, and perhaps no brother was ever so unwelcome as he when he visited "the family," as he called his brother. He was generally supplied with some ready cash and shoved back to Washington as soon as possible. Indeed, with money in his pocket he never lingered long—for, when in funds "to run with," Beau thought the National Capital was the proper [illegible] as [illegible] as the [illegible]

Says the correspondent:

One day, only a few years ago, I found him in the National Hotel greatly depressed in spirits, and asked him what was the matter.

"Sir," he replied politely, "I have had nothing for four days. I am unable to raise a single copper, and am even now suffering with hunger."

Knowing what a beat he was and thinking he was trying to create sympathy and get a dollar, I said, tartly:

"Beau, I am ashamed of you, and you ought to be ashamed of yourself. You know I always give when I have a mind to, and I have paid you my monthly dues one month in advance already, so you ought not to make such an appeal at this time, by pretending you are out of funds and even hungry."

"Ah," he said, "it is only too true and I know not where to go or what to do," and the man's eye and earnest manner convinced me he was telling the truth.

"Visit your relatives," I suggested.

"That won't do," he replied. "I don't want to go down to Virginia, and, besides, it is not long since that they gave me $150 to come back to Washington and stay."

"Then they must keep you away, and if you are in the strait you say you are, why not write to them the facts, and say you will come down and visit them if they don't send you money to stay here."

"I'll do it," cried Beau, his eye brightening. "If you will give me money to keep me alive until I can get answers from my friends."

I was fairly caught, and gave Beau a dollar, telling him to call on me every morning for five days for a like sum. On the sixth day he came apparently with great grief, and asked for another dollar, saying he would get an answer that day. And the next and the next he did the same, and when, on the tenth, I refused him flatly he went off and, in a little while, came back joyfully, exhibiting a letter which stated $50 was enclosed for him, and, on examining the date, I found it several days old, and that he had had the money and letter in his possession for at least four days, during which time he had borrowed of me.

Once, when he was down on the bedrock of poverty, and really starving, I gave him a dollar, and seeing me about to buy a cigar he stepped up and said:

"Allow me, sir, to serve you," and taking up two twenty-five-cent cigars, he presented me one, and took the other—actually paying half of the dollar I had just given him for the cigars.

"Beau," I said, "you are extravagant. I can't afford to smoke twenty five-cent cigars."

"One must live like a gentleman," he coolly said.

When I was mustered out of the volunteer service in Arkansas, at the close of the war I had on my staff several officers who had never been in Washington, and as these gentlemen wished to see the National Capital, I invited them to go on with me. We had hardly arrived and put up at the National Hotel, when Beau Hickman paid us a visit, and I introduced him to the staff. For a wonder Beau was in funds, and he treated us magnificently. He invited all hands up, willy to drink, and set out the cigars of the best and most costly brands. Next day I saw Beau in the corner of the hall of the hotel in conversation with Col Bowen, a big hearted and genuine Michigander, and, in a few moments he went down into his breeches-pocket, and, hauling out his wallet, handed out something to Beau. In a day or two I found Beau had borrowed from nearly all my officers, and feeling that I was in a measure responsible, I took the old beat to task, and remonstrated with him for his conduct. He was very humble but said "What can one do? One, you know, must live like a gentleman and to do it requires money."

When the officers found out the real character of the man they had a hearty laugh at each other and freely forgave Beau for they had just been mustered out and paid off and had come to Washington to spend their three months extra pay and did not regret the little of it Beau had got.

THE BEAU'S COWARDICE

Hickman was fond of picking up new acquaintances and one evening, at Washington while in the Metropolitan Hotel, he asked Gen Burbridge, who was talking to me, to point out to him some liberal Kentuckians. Burbridge pointed to Col Scott, a grave and fierce-looking man, and said "He will help you, Beau, he is a good fellow." Hickman soon managed to engage the Colonel in his adroit way in a casual conversation, and of course ended by asking him for a dollar. Scott as was expected rebuffed Beau sharply and scolded him for begging in such a manner. Beau got away speedily and came back to Burbridge, and said "He is no gentleman. He has insulted me."

"Who has?" inquired Burbridge.

"That man with the big black beard," replied Beau, pointing at Col Scott.

"My God," cried Burbridge, "you are a dead man. Hickman, did you not know that man? I sent you to that [illegible] the [illegible] desperado. He will kill you if you have given him the slightest offense." Beau was [illegible] a coward [illegible] got out of the hotel [illegible] roomed with me and [illegible] great practical [illegible] of the gentlest and most amiable [illegible] told him of the trick [illegible] Beau and Scott entering [illegible] joke said he would [illegible] Beau [illegible] to the infinite relief of the guests and landlord. Next day Burbridge met Beau on the street and said to him, "Look out, Beau! Scott is after you."

It was very funny to observe Beau, night after night come to the door of the hotel and peep in to see if Scott was about. He would advance step by step, and reconnoitre every chair and corner for the enemy, and, if he caught but so much as a glimpse of the black beard in the distance, away he would go and we would see no more of him that night about the Metropolitan.

One of Beau's favorite tricks was to get introduced to the new Senators and members of Congress and charge for the introduction. It used to be $10 for a Senator and $5 for a Congressman, but of late years Beau reduced the price of an introduction to $5 for a Senator and $2 for a Congressman. Some of them refused him sharply, but nearly all paid.

The Southern men were Beau's best patrons up to the beginning of the rebellion. He throve and prospered on their generosity. He said to me one day after the war: "I was loyal but my best friends were rebels. The carpet-baggers are a mean set and won't pay their dues. They are [illegible] altogether contemptible and irregular set of dead beats." This he said gravely, as though he were the most honorable gentleman in the world and least of all a dead beat himself.

Of late years Beau had had a hard time of it, and [illegible] sometimes nearly starved. He had a list of friends over the country whom he called his "contributors." They numbered over a hundred, and he charged them the small sum of 25 cents per month. If they failed to send on their dues when they amounted to one dollar Beau would have a letter written and remind them gently that they were in arrears. I think it was on this stipend of charity that he relied mainly since the war for a scanty living.

He was the only real gentleman beggar I ever saw in America, and as such was peculiar. His manners were courtly, his language chaste, and at times beautiful. He never lost his temper, and his urbanity even to those who insulted and rebuffed him was so marked as often to make them ashamed and regret their roughness to the poor old man. He must have received in youth an excellent education, and was well read. His voice was smooth and soft, and words always came at his command to express his ideas clearly and often elegantly. In person he was tall, spare and inclined to be raw boned. His face was neither handsome nor ugly, and it always wore a pleasant smile and had a most intelligent expression. Poor old Beau! we shall miss him when we go to Washington.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

MONDAY EVENING October 13 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 108½.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 90½ buying, 91½ selling.

Exchange on San Francisco ¾ of 1 ℘ cent. discount.

Liverpool Wheat, 12s 5d@12s 6d, club 12s 10d@13s 1d.

As will be seen above the gold market is still sinking, and it begins to look as though the decline would continue until the resumption of specie payment, an event which the Secretary of the U. S. Treasury thinks is not impossible or highly improbable would actually be brought about. This is something for which there has been an unreasonable amount of clamor from certain quarters but which the logic of circumstances has hitherto prevented, but now seems to be bringing about in a very unlooked for way. The effect of resumption if it shall take place upon all business interests will be quite manifest, but nevertheless it will be less extensively felt in this State, where gold is the basis of all commercial transactions, than elsewhere.

This being election day the movements in business circles have been quiet, and our local finances are unchanged in any important particular.

The Chicago Journal of Commerce of the 2d inst says:

The shock which stirred the financial world from center to circumference on the 18th of September ult when the banking house of Jay Cooke & Co closed its doors to the public has not failed to leave its marks behind. Blow followed blow and to-day eight tenths of the banking houses of the United States are consequently staggering under so sudden and unlooked for derangements of a financial organism of the money market. It was at first only a flutter when Jay Cooke & Co went down; it was another flurry when Fisk & Hatch and a score of others suspended; it was a "tremendous crash," a black day on Wall street—thus spoke the newspapers, and when Henry Clews & Co retired from the arena hopeful men still said "That is the last—now we will have brighter times; there is a rift in the clouds and the sun must shine soon." But other failures followed, and what threatened to prove merely a railway and capital panic seemed drifting in the direction of a grave commercial disturbance.

The present feeling is therefore one of universal anxiety; public confidence has been effected as though a sudden blow in the dark had been administered, for suddenness and intensity it has probably never been equalled. Few previous panics furnish episodes more startling; failures and dissolutions [illegible] upon one another in terrible succession. Jay Cooke & Co., Fisk & Hatch, The New York Warehousing Co, Union Trust Co, Henry Clews & Co, Howes & Macy—one after another were swept down by the strong elements of a disturbed stock exchange, an excited gold room and a determined demand from customers that their deposits should be surrendered to their personal keeping and guardianship. This being the case it is reported that during one week over $15,000,000 in greenbacks were locked up by trembling terror stricken multitudes and as day followed day the amount is largely increased. Not in the Northwest or West, not in Chicago, but in the East, in New York, in Brooklyn and many other places the poison was first administered: thieves and stock jobbers—men panting for riches and reckless as to the means adopted so long as the aim was accomplished—these may retire in confusion, knowing full well that their acts and rascality have been the prime instruments which struck a paralyzing blow at the legitimate industries of the country. If people—knowing not whom to confide in—lock up their money and thus promote that which they are desirous of dispelling, let the men who are at the bottom of the mischief blame themselves and not those whose nerves have been shaken and whose confidence destroyed by an insight into the manipulation of funds supposed to be looked upon as sacred trusts.

We have shown then that the evil which has produced such disastrous results was simply brought about by the greed of Eastern bankers for high profits, large transactions and inflated loans, as a general thing, when money is in fair circulation and financial circles easy, the banker or broker who receives heavy interest must be carrying questionable paper or weak security. The present season promised to be a prosperous one; the great harvests were yielding golden returns when crash fell collapsed stocks, illegitimate securities and bloated bonds; men asked at the Banks for their money, but the banker pointed to a safe full of promises and speculative materials, and the catastrophe was hastened by discoveries of defalcations in Eastern concerns and reckless manipulations of deposits supposed to have been loaned with more than usual discretion. The crisis teaches this lesson—that bankers must resolutely abstain or be forced to abstain, from loaning funds of their respective institutions in railroads and other ventures; there is sufficient unemployed capital outside—both in the United States and Europe for investment in speculative enterprises, and the man who thus tampers with funds deposited in the bank which he controls violates the confidence placed in him. Again we would impress upon all classes the seriousness of necessity for paying debts promptly, if at all in their power. We would solemnly advise those who are hoarding money to restore it to circulation; let there be no more trembling and fear; let every man do his duty in this hour of trial and trial then and all may yet be well. Public confidence [illegible] more than half the battle.

RUPTURE!

Remarkable Cure of an Enormous Rupture of 22 Years Standing, by the Use of Dr Marsh's Patent Truss.

Read the following Letter from Mr Jacob Fatz, who was cured in Nine Months.

SAN FRANCISCO June 3 1873.

MARSH'S TRUSS COMPANY—GENTS: THIS is to certify that I have worn Dr Marsh's Patent Truss for nearly nine months, and have been RADICALLY CURED of a very large, painful and troublesome Rupture of twenty two years standing. My Rupture equalled in size almost any child's head. But now I am sound and stronger than I have been for many years and I feel perfectly safe to do any laborious or hard work. Very truly yours,

JACOB FATZ, 500 Pacific street.

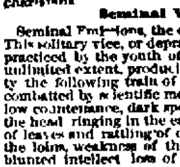
NEW REMEDIES! NEW REMEDIES!

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,



623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established in 1854 for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary 623 Kearney street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Disease!

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies; see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict inquiry, or you may fall into the hands of these charlatans.

Seminal Weakness,

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty the following train of morbid symptoms unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz. Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the face, furred tongue, fetid breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr G will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

Married Men,

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them, nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

Cured at Home.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr Gibbon stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union. All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn to certificates, dupe the unwary. Some of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing and may save you many regrets; for as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his office of his ability to treat diseases that he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco. Postoffice Box 1,957.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,957 ON THE LETTER. Consultations FREE.

Correspondents will please inform DR. GIBBON that they read his advertisement in the DAILY OREGONIAN.
